The Brookhaven Arts Alliance (BAA) was founded in 2004 with a mission to bring arts education and cultural events to the residents and visitors of Brookhaven. The goal is to have an Arts Center with space for classes, studios, retail and a gallery. Over the past 7 years the BAA has come very close to achieving this goal. In October this goal will be temporally met.

The Brookhaven Arts Alliance proudly announces the opening of the Brookhaven Art Gallery located in Town Brookhaven. Curated by Denise Jackson, owner of Emerging Art Scene Gallery, the pop-up gallery will feature a photography exhibit in conjunction with the Atlanta Celebrates Photography Festival. Guests will be able to view the works of David Rams, Jonathan D. Orozco, Shane Durrance and Smitty Smith. Known for their commercial, fashion and editorial work, these photographers each show their edgier work through their fine art photography. Taking it beyond glossy spreads, the show will reflect the grittier side of humanity, street life, and world views. This will be a unique opportunity to see Atlanta-based commercial photographers exposed.

Artwork by a 5th artist will also be on display. Emerging on the scene is traditionalist photographer Christy Murray who has an appreciation for bold imagery.

The Brookhaven Gallery opening reception of "On Edge: Beyond Editorial", will be Friday, September 23rd, 7pm -10pm. Guests will be able to meet the artists, peruse the artwork and enjoy music and light refreshments. The gallery will be open to the public Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, 6pm-9pm. The perfect activity to pair with dinner out. The closing reception will be Friday, October 28th, 7pm-10pm and will feature a silent auction with artwork donated by Brookhaven Arts Festival artists. The proceeds of the silent auction benefit the Brookhaven Arts Alliance.

The address of the Brookhaven Gallery is 205 Town Boulevard, Atlanta, GA, 30319. For more information about the gallery and the exhibit please visit www.brookhavenartsalliance.com or call 404.210.4107.
